

The Wedding Announcement Of Miklos Molnar And Iren Katz

This is the wedding announcement of my parents, Miklos Molnar and Iren Katz, from 1929. The announcement was made by the parents of the bride, Mor Katz and his wife, and Vilmos Molnar, who had been a widower since the 1st June. My parents met because they lived in the same house on Vorosmarty Street. My mother only finished elementary school. They were extremely poor. My grandmother was ill all the time; my grandfather was never at home. He was a painter. My grandmother raised her four younger siblings: one girl and three boys. My grandfather was a careless man; at least they told me so. My father went to elementary and middle school. After middle school they made him a confectioner's apprentice. Later he became a confectioner master. He took his confectioner's master exam on the 18th December 1939 in front of the examining committee. He was a soldier during World War I.
