The interviewee and his family

Full name Henrich F. (nickname Harry)

Where and when were you born? Bratislava, 1928

Where else did you live?

Your educational level? University of Technology in Bratislava

What sort of work do/did you do?

After finishing school, I got a job in Aritma Praha, where I worked on the development of computers. From there I went to work for PZO Kovo [PZO Kovo: in the past, a company that concerned itself with foreign trade. It had a monopoly on the import and export of light machinery and electronics- Editor's note]. I worked in foreign trade; they sent me as a delegate to Warsaw, Budapest, Skopje, and for some time I was also in Germany. That was when I was still single. My wife was pregnant during the time I was in Skopje. I got an ultimatum from my wife: travel, or children. Of course, I decided for children. I found a job in a company that dealt with computer technology, which at that time was on the upswing. I was given the position of engineering manager. My colleagues and I built buildings all over Slovakia. We built them from the ground up, including office furniture, technical facilities and computers, right up to the TV antenna. We built ten of these buildings in Slovakia. You can for example find them in Bratislava, Dunajska Streda, Nitra, Banska Bystrica, Liptovsky Mikulas, Presov and Kosice. Our company did population censuses. We took care of data collection and processing. I retired in 1991.

How religious was your parents' home? How were you raised?

Our family was quite distant from the Jewish religion. Our family observed only the High Holidays. I can't describe them, as I was still small. As children we didn't really observe the fast during Yom Kippur [Yom Kippur: The Day of Atonement. The most celebrated event in the Jewish calendar. A day of "cleansing of sins". Fasting is observed. – Editor's note]. But I do remember Simchat Torah [Simchat Torah: the main significance of the holiday lies in the continuation of the Five Books of Moses. The cycle of reading from the Torah ends and begins on the same day, and the public celebration connected with this expresses the joy inspired by this process – Editor's note], how we would walk, with stops, around Rybne Square, but that's also a long time ago. I didn't even have a bar mitzvah [bar mitzvah - "son of the Commandments", a Jewish boy that has reached the age of thirteen. A ceremony, during which the boy is declared to be bar mitzvah, from this point on he must fulfill all commandments of the Torah – Editor's note]. My 13th birthday took place during the war year of 1941, and by then people had other things to worry about.

Where else did he live? Bratislava

Where and when did he die? Bratislava, 1964

What sort of education did he have? Graduated from mercantile school in Dunajska Streda

What sort of work did he do?

My father worked as a traveling salesman for the Krtz Company. In 1934, as a result of the depression [4], one store after another was going under. The Kurtz Company ended up the same way. My father then opened his own clothing store in Venturska Street. He sold notions, buttons and accessories for tailors. Later he sold underwear as well. He and my mother worked in the store together. After our store was nationalized, my father worked for Vesna [Vesna: a chain of textile outlets offering a wide assortment of textile goods – Editor's note]; they then renamed it to Otex [Otex: textile company offering a wide assortment of men's and women's clothing – Editor's note]. There he somehow didn't get along with the management, and so he left to work at the Tuberculosis Research Institute. He was in charge of the warehouse and materials and equipment.

How religious was he?

Our family was quite distant from the Jewish religion. Our family was modern, we didn't feel anything major towards religion. During the High Holidays, our whole family would visit the Neolog synagogue on Rybne Square.

What was his mother tongue? Hungarian

Army service: which army and what years? Czechoslovak Army, was a hospital orderly in Ruzomberk, 1918 - 1920

If he survived, what did he do after?

After the war, my father remarried. He had his fashion goods store returned, which they then nationalized. After our store was nationalized, my father worked for Vesna [Vesna: a chain of textile outlets offering a wide assortment of textile] goods – Editor's note]; they then renamed it to Otex [Otex: textile company offering a wide assortment of men's and women's clothing – Editor's note]. There he somehow didn't get along with the management, and so he left to work at the Tuberculosis Research Institute. He was in charge of the warehouse and materials and equipment. Unfortunately, the concentration camp had left its deep marks on him. His lungs were full of coal dust, and this caused complications, to which he succumbed in 1964.
