When the Jews are leaving,
it is a bad sign for the city reiasano_luca ~ In Sarajevo, La Benevolencia the living conditions were terrible. Citizens were in terrible conditions, they are free game to snipers until they built the wall as an attempt to shelter the citizens.

reiasano_luca ~ The west / United States gave help by sending food and water, other than that they could only watch from the sidelines. They also had a reason, they didn't want to involve their people to be safe.

reiasano_luca ~ Of course later on there were people to "save the day", even though an image had shown a person taking an injection only to keep on breathing. It is better than nothing. #Stayingalivesarajevo RedlightsOtaku ~ Didn't you know? People still have to watch where they're going, whether on a bridge or streets.

Hoshi ~ "Don't. Don't. Don't" get your hopes up... the west tries but... "no one came." #Undertaleflvey reiasano_luca ~ No matter what "Don't. Don't. Don't" give up ever. Even though it's dangerous, make the best of it. #liveyourlife #lookoutforeachother reiasano_luca ~ Sadly the Jews refused the fact that they can live together, La Benevolencia is a safe haven for people in Sarajevo.

	"When the Jews are leaving. It is a bad sign for the city," -- Bosnian proverb. As in this quote, people on the left are from Benevolencija work together in Sarajevo, even if they are part of different cultures. The picture on the top is a destroyed city in Sarajevo.

Kevin-1276: Even though the people of Benevolencija were different, they tried to help the residents of Sarajevo and provide things Sarajevo didn't have since the war started, like medicine and communication lines. #hopenotdistinguished

Sophie_9: The residents of Sarajevo were attacked by snipers and mortars, but the residents had to get water for drinking and other uses. #unsafe

Val_de6: There was a two-way radio to provide communication, a dentist that visits once every week, and more. The people helped provide everyday needs other than food and water, which were sent in by other countries. #survival
