

Laci Fulop, Vera's Cousins, In Paris

These are my cousins, the children of one of my mother's sisters aunt Gizi.

She got married and in 38 they emigrated, her husband was a tailor and he couldn't find work here and they went to Paris. They lived there until her husband died there.

He died under normal circumstances [i.e. before the Holocaust]. I remember we visited aunt Gizi once after the war. Her daughter Anna married a Jew called Mihaly Klein [in Paris].

They had two children and she was a housewife. Her children live in Israel but we don't keep in touch with them.

She is alive somewhere, I think but I have no idea where. Gizi's son Laci participated in the resistance movement [during WWII] and he was executed as a resistance fighter.
