

Aunt Esther Primo's Family

Esther had four children altogether. Two of them, Benjamin and Juliet, are on this photo and are from her third marriage. Aunt Esther's family lived at Pernik Street. When Isak became wealthier they rented a house at Bacho Kiro Street, but when the Law for the Protection of the Nation was adopted, they had to move to Strandja Street. They were forced to do so because, according to the Law, Jews had to move out of the center of Sofia. They emigrated to Israel in 1949.
