

Hana Gasic's Aunt Kristina Montiljo And Her Daughters

This is my father's brother's wife Kristina with her daughters. Makica is on the left and Evica on the right. Kristina was a non-Jewish Slovenian woman. My grandmother Klara called her "Sogorica" a Croatian phrase of German origin, a term of affection meaning "sister-in-law." The two of them got along but there was no great affection between them. Kristina and her daughter were saved by her mother, a Slovenian woman. After the war they lived in Sarajevo.
