

Faina Khorunzhenko's Uncle Grigory Zamb

Mother's brother Grigory Zamb as a soldier in World War I. The exact date of the photo is unknown. It was taken between 1914-1915. After the death of my grandfather, my mother's older brother Grigory, who was demobilized in 1916 due to a wound, and who later found a job in Pervomaisk, took my mother into his own family. But my mother didn't like it there because Grigory's wife Asya had no love for her.
