

Adolf Goldmann With His Children Moshe And Lotte

This is Adolf Goldmann with his children, Moshe and Lotte, in Basel, Switzerland.

My grandfather was a glowing Zionist. He went to the 17th Zionist Congress in Basel with Moshe and Moshe's sister Lotte.

They got there, and my father-in-law was asked:

“Mr. Goldmann, do you have an invitation?” Of course he didn’t have an invitation.

So he said:

“My name is Goldmann, I want to get in there with my two kids.” They told him that he couldn’t come in without an invitation.

So my father-in-law took the work clothes and brooms from the cleaning staff, everyone put on the clothes and took a broom, and that’s how they got in, and they even got good seats.
