

Pepo Hason's House In Bitola

This is Pepo Hason's house. It was used during the war by the partisans as a hiding place for those underground and for sometime it housed the printing press. It was used for making pamphlets My [younger] brother worked here. He was the main courier and supplier. This was very dangerous work. A few times Steve Naumov and Vera Aceva, famous individuals from the underground, stayed here. I went back to Bitola and took this picture for documentation for the history of the city of Bitola and of Macedonia.
